DYER

Three types of numbers are used, one to identify the individual, one to indicate the generation line which that person fills, and one to denote order or birth-order within the nuclear family. The identification numbering system used in this book is called "By Generation". The starting person is 1, his first child is 2. All the children are listed as generation number two, the grand-children are listed as generation number three and so on. Each person is assigned an ID number in sequential order by generation.

When an individual is introduced in his/her separate sketch, the name appears in boldface letters. The name is preceded by the identification number. The last given name is followed immediately by a superscript number reflecting the number of generations from the starting individual in this book. In parentheses following the name is a list of direct ancestors back to the starting individual. Only the given name is listed, followed by the generation number in superscript.

Below the list of children is presented, the birth date is printed, followed by a small roman numeral on foot of the name designates birth-order. The birth and death dates are followed by the birth and death dates.

The index is arranged alphabetically by surname. If a woman has a surname, the given names are alphabetically arranged. The name is followed by the year of birth in square brackets. The number to the right indicates the page where this name appears. If a woman appears under her maiden name and under her married names with her maiden name in parentheses.

Reading This Book

If, while reading the following pages of this book, the reader will keep these few facts in mind, a much clearer understanding of the contents will result. The format or style used in this book is known as the Modified Register System, which has been refined by the National Genealogical Society.

Three types of numbers are used: one to uniquely identify the individual, one to indicate the generation into which that person falls, and one to denote his or her birth-order within the nuclear family. The identification numbering system used in this book is called By Generation. The starting person is 1, his first child is 2. All the children are listed as generation number two, the grand-children are listed as generation number three and so on. Each person is assigned an ID number in sequential order by generation.

When an individual is introduced in his/her separate sketch, the name appears in boldface letters. The name is preceded by the identification number. The last given name is followed immediately by a superscript number indicating the number of generations from the starting individual in this book. In parentheses following the name is a list of direct ancestors back to the starting individual. Only the given name is listed, followed by the generation number in superscript.

When the list of children is presented, the ID number is printed, followed by a small roman numeral in front of the name designates birth-order. Next the name is followed by the birth and death dates.

The index is arranged alphabetically by surname. Under each surname, the given names are alphabetically arranged. The name is followed by the year of birth and death in square brackets. The number to the right indicates the page where this name appears. The wife appears under her maiden name and under her married names with her maiden name in parentheses.
